Rain drowns out country music concert

by GLORIA DAVIS

There may be a lot of country music fans in the local area, but as evidenced by the August 2 weather, Mother Nature isn't one of them.

Those who attended the country western concert of which Clem Haley, Antioch, was one of the promoters, held at Sunnybrook Farm, in the northeastern corner of Lake County near I-94, on Sunday, August 2, had more than their spirits dampened by the downpour that came in the early afternoon and lasted through the evening.

Although word is that the promoters of the concert lost money, according to Bill Diamond, the event's advertising representative, "The final attendance count isn't in, but we will be more than satisfied if the attendance was between 6,000 and 7,000.

At $14.50 per head, the 6,000 estimated to have attended the concert, by the sheriff's department, at least until the skies opened up about 2 p.m., would have netted the sponsors about $100,000.

The question is whether having stars like Charlie Rich, Ronnie Milsap and Rex Allen Jr. and a $100,000 take, plus the extra revenue garnered by the concessions, is equitable.

Diamond said that he had received nothing but accolades on the way the concert and the stars were handled from no less than the stars themselves.

With about 40 private security people and the law enforcement personnel that guarded the area's perimeter, incidents of audience misbehavior was nil according to Diamond.

"Not one single arrest was made on the premises," says Diamond. This was corroborated by chief Deputy James Donaldson, Lake County Sheriff's Dept.

"The audience had an age span from babes in arms to grandparents," said Diamond.

Much of the crowd dispersed in the middle of the afternoon because of the inclement weather and by the time the concert's main attraction, Charlie Rich, took to the stage, he found himself performing for about 50 people, plus the concert's employees, report some of those who were in attendance.

Jamie Grunewald, who worked on Diamond's staff said, "It was off to a great start and then the rains came, but I still was thrilled to be part of it since everything was handled so well."

Ida Wells Curry, Antioch, who sang in support of the stars said, "We had a good audience of at least 4,000 to 5,000 people until 2:30 p.m. but it was still great to sing on a stage along with a star like Charlie Rich."

According to Donaldson, "There were no particular problems except that some of the cars got buried in the muddy parking."

The sheriff's department credits some of the lack of problems to the fact that most of the beer drinking that took place at the event was cut off early when the rains came.

The weather also caused a mass exodus from King Richard's Faire, Bristol, Great America, Gurnee and the Lake County Fair in Grayslake, at the same time that crowds left the concert, causing very heavy traffic on many of the same Lake County roads.

One minor accident is all that was reported by the sheriff's department.

Hoping for better treatment from Mother Nature next time, Diamond says that the enthusiasm of the local communities and other positive aspects of this year's concert have already spawned the plans for another try next year.

Robert Tate drowns in Lake Catherine

Robert Tate, 36, Lindenhurst, drowned in Lake Catherine on Friday, August 7, while boating and swimming with two friends.

According to the Lake County coroner's report, corroborated by Todd Moplethorpe, Antioch fire chief, Tate, Wendy E. Wright, 19, Columbus, Ohio and Tom Wolfe, 39, Antioch, reportedly had been attending the boat races at Blarney Island, until midnight and decided to go for a swim in Lake Catherine.

Wright and Wolfe report that Tate threw an anchor into the water about 75 feet off the lake's north shore that was attached to a 10 foot rope.

At this point Tate followed the anchor into the water. Both Wright and Wolfe stated that they dove into the water looking for Tate and when they could not locate him, went to a home on shore and called the Antioch Rescue Squad and the Lake County Sheriff's Dept.

The Lake County coroner's office was notified of a possible drowning at 1:18 a.m.

Members of the Antioch Fire Dept's Underwater Rescue Team called on the Lake County Underwater Rescue Team for help in finding the body but the divers gave up the search at 4 a.m.

The search was resumed at 6 a.m. and Tate's body was recovered at 6:30 a.m.

The coroner's office stated that an inquest into the incident will be conducted in approximately three weeks.

Village board to reconsider senior project

The 100-unit housing project, proposed for Main St. in Antioch and approved by the Illinois Housing Development Authority (IHDA) under the previous administration of Mayor Ray Toft and supported by both Mayors Bob Wilton and Mike Haley, does not seem to be favored by the present administration of Mayor Toft, as was demonstrated when the village board did not pass a resolution to keep the IHDA project alive at the beginning of June.

The project was first approved by the village board in 1970 and through it Antioch's need for senior citizen housing was supposed to be filled by the project meant to basically house handicapped and low income families and then senior citizens.

The IHDA project was accepted in lieu of the non-availability of funding for housing meant only for seniors.

The developers of the project said that a survey had indicated that there were so few low income and handicapped families in the Antioch area that they felt that the bulk of the 100 units would go to senior citizens, especially since many seniors would have the handicapped priority.

Although Toft says that the many requests he receives indicate that there are more than enough seniors in need of housing in the Antioch area to fill the 100 units, there is concern by members of the board that low income and handicapped people from outside the area would move in and fill the majority of the units, leaving only a small proportion of them for the seniors.

Trustee Claudette Skvarce, who is not in favor of low-income housing in Antioch, thinks that this question should go to a public hearing.

Trustee Rod White was of the opinion that the village could absorb low income housing if it was dispersed throughout the village. The proposed project would be centered in one area.

Robert J. Cisek, director of the Lake County Housing Authority was asked to appear at the August 3 Antioch Village Board meeting, by senior citizens in Antioch, to ask the board to take action on the 1970 resolution.

Reup Senior Plans

Cisek seemed to be there just to see where the project presently stood as far as the board was concerned.

Though nothing was done about the project at the August 3 meeting, the board is expected to take action at their next meeting, either that of signing the resolution or calling for a public meeting to discuss whether or not low income housing should be accepted in order to get housing for seniors.

Scarpelli takes over as Teresi retires

After 34 years in the automobile business, 18 of those years spent as co-owner of John Teresi Chevrolet in Antioch, John Teresi has announced his semi-retirement.

Ray Scarpelli, who joined Teresi's sales staff 18 years ago, becoming a partner in the Chevrolet-Oldsmobile dealership in 1968, is the new sole owner of the business located at 120 Rte. 173.

Teresi will still maintain the Budget Rent-A-Car operation and continue to dabble in the real estate that he owns, while spending four or five months out of the year in Antioch, where he will still keep his residence.

The rest of the year will be spent golfing and fishing at his home in Boynton Beach, Fla.

Will this change in ownership bring about any changes in the operation of the automobile dealership?

"None whatsoever," say both Teresi and Scarpelli.

Scarpelli says that he intends to carry on their established tradition of providing excellent service as well as the best products possible for their neighbors in Antioch.

"We'll continue to serve our customers in the fine manner they've grown accustomed to," he said.

Does the general drop in the automobile business have anything to do with the changes being made at Teresi's?

"Not a thing," say both men.

"We've experienced a 25 percent drop in business since the 'boom' years but our sales are actually up from last year," says Scarpelli.

Scarpelli, who has lived in Antioch with his wife Delores and three sons for the past 10 years, is looking forward to bringing his sons into the business since they have expressed interest in it.

Ray Jr. is attending Northwood Institute in Michigan where he is majoring in automotive marketing.

Daniel is an art student at Drake University and Mark is a senior at Antioch Community High School.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Congratulations to Ruth Maplethorpe, sophomore at Illinois State University (ISU), who has been appointed drill instructor of the world's largest marching band.

Her father Todd, tells me that there are over 400 members in the ISU Marching Band.

Speaking of our erstwhile fire chief, happenings during the recent trip that Todd and his wife Carol took to England prove again that the world is getting smaller by the day.

While in Edinburgh, Scotland, the Maplethorpes ran into Ruth and Bob Bemis at St. Giles Church.

The Bemis' were visiting the Scottish exchange student that had stayed with them in Antioch awhile back.

Then who should they run into at the London Airport, and share the plane ride home with, but Dr. and Mrs. James Kopriva.

Under-interesting facts: Alfred Bianco sent me a picture of his night blooming cactus, that only blooms for one hour during the nighttime.

Bianco stayed awake all night to catch the cactus in bloom to share it with the News' readers.

And for pet lovers, Bianco also sent a picture of the four hour-old wild mallard ducks that hatched from the 11 eggs he found next to his front entrance.

I've heard of the old babe on the doorstep routine, but ducks in the doorway?

Five new teachers will be hosting classes at Antioch Community High School when the school bells toll August 25.

The Time Machine

50 YEARS AGO: AUGUST 13, 1931

Indian lore proved effective in recovering the body of Fred Meierhafer who drowned in Lake Marie Sunday. After searching for two days the police, at the request of the boys parents, summoned a young college youth, George Thompson from Stillwater, Minn., who possesses a Indian secret for bringing bodies to the surface. Thompson, after ordering the lake cleared of boats and bathers, rowed about for awhile with his assistant, Emmett McLeer, and presently returned to shore to await results. Within an hour the body rose to the surface.

The young French-Canadian is a protege of John Jerrimy, famed Indian called "Father of the Waters" because of his extraordinary success in locating bodies. This secret was handed down to the youth from three generations. He has never failed to bring a body to the surface, it is said.

A large brewery, believed to have been the source of supply for roadhouses and saloons in McHenry County and along the Lake County line, was raided Tuesday morning by Lester Tiffany and his deputies. The brewery, capable of manufacturing 120 barrels of beer weekly, was located in Grant Township.

At the annual Farmers' Picnic held at the Model Farm yesterday, which attracted a crowd of 5,000, the farm boys of this territory won $270 in cash prizes. Lloyd Barnstable is grand champion in dairy and Herman Edleman grand champion in poultry.

30 YEARS AGO: AUGUST 16, 1951

The Wahoo Rollers, a club of young people who skate at the Antioch rink, were rather confused when they returned from Kenosha County Fair at Wilmet where they placed a beautiful float in the parade last week. They won first prize, but when it was discovered they were from Illinois, it was announced that they won second prize, and when they returned home, they found their envelope contained third prize money. It was through error that the float was registered since out-of-state entries were not permitted, it was said.

Fred Hawkins Jr. was not as fortunate in his play in the world championship golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter golf course last week as he was in the All-American contest the week before. Ben Hogan was the winner, taking $7,500 in prize money. Jimmy Demaret was second, while tied for third were Peter Cooper and Bobby Locke.

Mrs. Margaret Duben of Cross Lake turned over $20.25 to the Antioch Rescue Squad Fund as its share of the receipts from her rummage sales held the last two weekends.

Miss Charlene Nelson was guest of honor at a reception given by the Antioch Rainbow for Girls in recognition of her election to the state office of Grand Hope. Presenting her was Mary Lou Wilton worthy adviser. Mrs. Mary Abt was the main speaker and Miss Betty Lou Williams is mother advisor of the Antioch group.

10 YEARS AGO: AUGUST 11, 1971

Three Sequoit Suzies appeared in the honor group during the Lake County Fair Style Show. They are Rosaline Scheske, Sue Hevrdejs and Wanda Springer. Rosaline Scheske received a grand champion in sports clothes.

Booths at St. Peter's Parish carnival were closed down for alleged gambling. Similar activities were held recently at Prince of Peace in Lake Villa with very successful money raising affairs and were not closed down, but Marge Nelson, member of the Antioch Village Board, said "No gambling, that's it. It is illegal and to allow it to continue would be setting an illegal precedent."

Questionnaire results support Reaganomics

More than 30,000 responses to the biennial questionnaire circulated by Congressman Robert McClory (R-Lake Bluff), show overwhelming constituent support for President Reagan's economic program of budget cuts and tax reductions.

A whopping 89 percent of the men and women who responded in the questionnaire survey are backing President Reagan's three year across-the-board tax reduction proposal, and a similarly high 85 percent of the responses approve drastic cuts in federal spending. The support for these tax and spending cuts indicate that there is a little argument among 13th District citizens on these critical domestic issues.

ONLY SLIGHTLY less popular is Congressman McClory's proposed constitutional amendment to require a balanced budget except during national emergency. A convincing 76 percent of those who responded to the questionnaire favored the McClory constitutional amendment proposal to require a balanced budget.

Somewhat more controversial but still strong with McClory constituents is a demand for stricter federal hand-gun control laws. Women of the 13th District support stricter federal hand-gun control legislation by a two-to-one margin (67 percent), and 57 percent of the men support such legislation. This is in contrast to the large volume of NRA-generated correspondence voicing opposition to any such federal hand-gun control law.

It is significant, also, that 31 percent of the women who answered the questionnaire favor a constitutional amendment to outlaw abortions while 28 percent of the men

Gary Hammond each with a home run, a triple, and a double; Ken Warner with a triple; Jeff Cote with four doubles; and Bob Kaiser with a double. Many other single base hits were tabulated.

Letter to the Editor

ABOUT ASSOCIATION ELECTION

Editor:

Information I think members of the Oakwood Knolls Assn. will be interested in.

I have heard from several neighbors that a group of people have organized themselves to run against the present board members in the upcoming August election.

I am all in favor of seeing interested people want to improve the community and run for office. However, the people running have proven they are not interested in helping Oakwood Knolls.

For example, most those running are hardly ever at any of the meetings.

If these people are really interested, why aren't they at the meetings presenting their ideas on improving our community?

Instead, they prefer going door to door, once a year, bad mouthing those presently trying to keep Oakwood Knolls running smoothly.

When it was time to put the piers out or the swimming rafts in the water, where were all these concerned people?

When the float was being built, representing all of Oakwood Knolls, where were these concerned people?

When the float was set on fire and the trailer had to be repaired, Joe Veith and myself had to do it.

Let us stop and think of what Joe Veith and the other officers have done for Oakwood Knolls: Halloween parade and prizes for the kids; movies at the lake;

new playground equipment; Santa visits at Christmas; spring dance; fishing derby; guest speakers; stocking of the lake to improve fishing; a float for the parade on the Fourth of July and the goody booth.

These are just a few of the activities the present board has offered our community.

Thanks to their fundraisers, they have kept our dues at $15 (some assn.'s pay as much as $75 a year).

If we want to keep Oakwood Knolls a nice place to live, and keep our beach private instead of public, then lets give Joe Veith and the rest of the present officers our vote at the August meeting.

ASL certificate rates up

Antioch Savings has announced that the 12 percent ceiling on the associations two and a half year certificate has been lifted.

Termed the "Small Saver" Certificate, it is now possible to earn money market rates, with a minimum investment of $1,000.

James McDermott, senior vice president explained, that this certificate is tied to the two and a half year treasury securities, with a current rate of 15.80 percent.

Unlike a "Money Market Fund," this certificate will guarantee an interest rate for the full two and a half year term, and is fully protected by FSLIC to $1,000.

THE Entertainer

'Flea' closes August 15

The final production of the Fool's Players Summer Theatre Festival '81, "A Flea In Her Ear", is now in performance at the Antioch Community High School Auditorium on Rte. 83, just north of Rte. 173, in Antioch.

Georges Feydeau's "A Flea In Her Ear" will be performed August 14 and 15 at 8 p.m.

This French sex farce centers around Yvonne and Victor Emmanuel Chandel and their many marital problems, all riotous and hilarious.

Yvonne's suspicions of Victor Emmanuel's faithfulness put a "flea in her ear" and she cannot rest until she discovers all and neither can anyone else, including the audience.

The special guest artist, Wallace Smith, will lend his expertise as associate director to this final production.

His credentials are impressive beginning with his education.

He received a B.A. degree from Baldwin-Wallace College and from 1949-1973 received, what Mr. Smith calls a Masters degree plus, plus from Northwestern University.

Also during those years he was head of drama at Evanston High School and from 1967-1981 director of the gifted in the arts program for the high school.

He has directed over 200 plays which span educational, children's, community and professional theatre.

His extra-curricular activities include Presidents for the American Theatre Association in 1971 and evaluator of talent for the National Endowment for the Arts.

Currently, Smith is regional chairman for the American Theatre Association, Great Lakes Region and has recently retired from Evanston High School.

His former students include such names as the actor Michael Moriarty and the playwrights Jeff Sweet and Alan Gross.

When I think about it

Gloria: 'harbingers of winter can sit on it!

by GLORIA DAVIS

Keeping up with the times and doing the "in thing" has always been my bag, so even though watching a big league baseball game is my idea of nothing to do and although I'm not employed by the Uncle Sam, in either a write-in or fly-in capacity,

I've decided to go on strike like all the good American ballplayers, postal workers and air comptrollers.

Now I've decided to do my striking in a bigger way than that being done by the small time aforementioned patriots who, in these times of economic crisis, have decided that the old "Rally 'round the flag, boys," motto should read "rally, down the flag boys."

Maybe I'm just a fair weather friend but since summer officially begins on June 22, I'm fighting the harbingers of winter that have decreed that it's all over the day after the Fourth of July.

That's when the summer sale signs start popping up, the winter catalogues begin stuffing the mail boxes and the racks of the clothing stores are suddenly covered with wools, plaids, suedes and corduroys.

I want to tell you that I really don't take the sight of this warm and wooly wardrobe kindly when the therмомeter reads 92 degrees and my cotton tank-top feels like thermo-underwear.

How dare they declare summer's end when the new paint on my patio furniture is still too tacky from the ever-present humidity to allow it to be used.

Hey, I've just gotten around to moving the winter clothes to the dead-end of the closet and haven't even finished pressing the summer things that were stored in my ironing basket.

My summer tan is still at the pale beige stage and the sight of potato salad, melon baskets and baked beans hasn't even had a chance to wear thin in the palate department.

Mr. Retailer, it would be nice if I had a chance to get my summer things off the lay-away rack before you start trying to tempt me with those embroidered sweaters. It's just not fair that this fleeting season finds me still procrastinating about going on a summer diet to fend off the laughter of the beach, when suddenly winter fat storage-time is heralded by the sound of school bells that drown out the sound of the bands in the Labor Day parade.

I guess it's a real sign of age when you can tell your grandchildren that you remember the good old days when summer was actually three months long.

11 Scouts, Troop 92, campout at Owasippe

ANTIOCH BOY SCOUT TROOP 92

Eleven Scouts and four leaders of Antioch Troop 92 Boy Scouts of America spent an exciting two weeks at Camp Owasippe Scout Reservation, a 10,000 acre facility near Muskegon, Michigan.

In addition to the regular camping, swimming, and merit badge activities, Owasippe offers a variety of "Outpost" activities in which the Scouts may participate.

The outposts were: wilderness survival, sailing, fishing, logging, horsemanship, shotgun/musket, frogman, and wagon train.

Thanks to these outposts, evening merit badge sessions, and leader encouragement, the Scouts earned 52 merit badges.

Some of these merit badges included: lifesaving, canoeing, pioneering, reptile study, woodcarving, fishing, swimming, environmental science, wilderness survival, soil and water conservation, and rowing.

Tom Dujic, Phil Hettich, Bob Paschke, and Frank Zeien each earned between two and four merit badges.

The Scouts who earned between five and seven merit badges were: Mark Aschbacher, Brian Clark, Dale Gade, Paul J. Hettich, Joe May, John Naughton, and Nick Zeien.

The Scouts also earned numerous individual or team special awards. For the second consecutive year, Paul J. Hettich and Nick Zeien took first place in both weekly camp-wide canoe races and broke their last year's camp record.

The same boys also earned the coveted Lifeguard BSA Award.

Gade, Paul J. Hettich, May, and Zeien completed the mile swim.

Gade took a first in diving, while Aschbacher earned the same in the critter crawl.

For having maintained an excellent campsite, improving it daily, and completing a special project weekly, Troop 92 received the Baden Powell Award both weeks.

In addition, the troop won first place in the camp's water carnival.

As a special treat, the troop completed a 20 mile canoe trip down the Wolf River each Friday.

While all of these activities were occurring, Gerri Dost, Jesse Gade, and Nancy Zeien were enjoying rest and relaxation at Camp Owasippe's Family Camp.

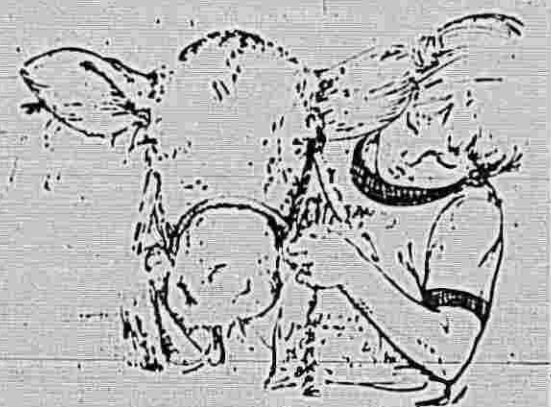

Troop 92's summer campout would not have been successful without the supervision and support of those leaders who provided transportation and gave up one or two weeks of vacation.

They include Scoutmaster Bernie Dost, Assistant Scoutmasters, Tom Aschbacher and Dave Gade, and Committee Member Don Gade.

The troop also thanks Harold Clark for carrying Scouts and their gear on this 530 mile round trip.

Special prizes for the day went to Louise Santino, low net score of 45; Louise Vos, lowest number of putts; Elvera Margon, most putts; Delores Scarpelli, longest putt; and Louise Palm, closest to the pin; Louise Santino and Elvera Morgan, longest drives.

In their regular league play Tuesday, Team 10, Trudy Anderson, Dorothy Teister, Jean Karas and Ginny Traeger, moved into first place.

Team 6, Irene Teresi, Irene Hahn, Fran LaPlant and Jean Shernap, is tied with Team 9, Eileen Zannini, Lorraine Hitchon, Ann St. Pierre and Lorraine Santi for second place.
